At WINGS, we are concerned with the ongoing lack of understanding of the dangers of allowing known or credibly alleged child sexual abusers to participate in intimate fellowship gatherings. Denying access to abusers from children is not an indictment of their relationship with God, it is simply a risk management tool.

We encourage any survivors who have strength to step forward, so workers could begin to understand the importance of protecting children from this person and any other perpetrators.

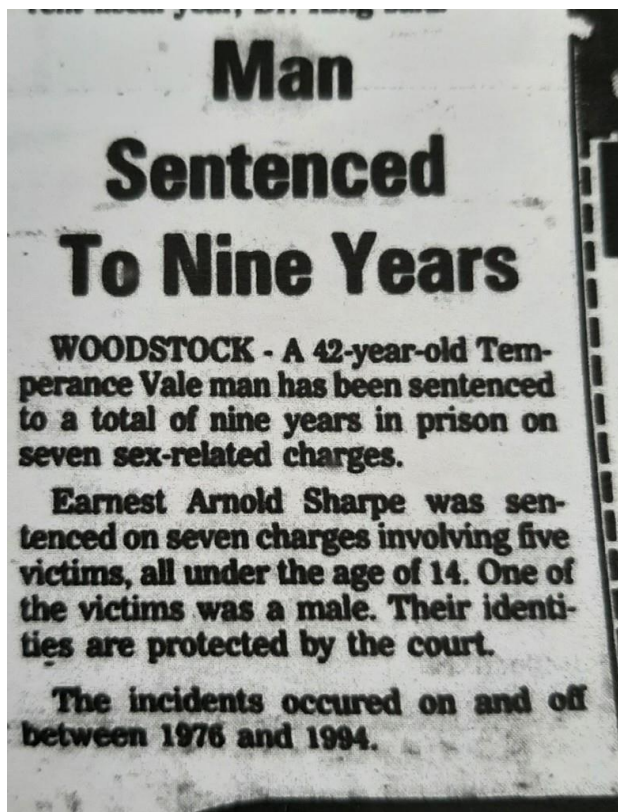

WINGS Note April 3, 2024: A number of paragraphs that were Published 2024/03/27 at 7:25 am have been redacted because of complaints from Sharpe and Family that:

This post is absolutely false and corrupt.

... paid for his crime, the actual law of the Canadian Government handled his crimes. And now, 30 years later, you all are thinking you can just open up all the old scars and convicte him again? You have no idea what you have done and how you are actually hurting more people then you think you are helping.

Your so called "facts" aren't even true, the ones you have listed on the write up ...

WINGS will always retract/correct any errors and apologize. We are deeply committed to accuracy and have asked for details as to what is incorrect. In the meantime, we have redacted some of the peripheral details from the original post. Depending on what clarifications are received, if any, the original paragraphs may be reinstated.
