

Elaine Henry describes the need to move on as nothing is happening to fix the situation

@Matt. Thanks for sharing. We too have felt moved to move on. A dear friend of ours mentioned that "some have had to leave to save their souls."

That has been our case. I cannot see any changes happening until Scott is gone and the rest of the staff wakes up.

We've personally have witnessed or heard anything from the staff that shows hearts have changed.

If Jesus was here today, he'd be standing with survivors.
