

Jim Stipp removed from meetings

Jul 5

Jim Stipp has been removed from all meetings due to multiple allegations of childhood sexual abuse. He was a worker for about 30 years, starting in the 70s. He labored in Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Mexico, Argentina, and Puerto Rico. Jim now lives near Chicago, Illinois.

Allegations were brought to the attention of the overseer, Clarence Anderson, about 20 years ago, and no action was taken. They were later brought to the next overseer, Alan Anderson, and no action was taken.

Dear Friends,

I need to inform you that Jim Stipp has admitted to two incidents of child abuse.

Jim will not be physically attending any meetings, until further notice.
