Joyce Dixon regarding the emotional trauma in leaving the work .. And senior workers indifference to the economics of it.

@Lisa, I hear you! These powerful men can squash you like a bug. That is the value they place on us.

One sister told me that Willis said to her, when she visited with him about not being able to continue in the work, 'The Welfare system makes a provision for people like you.'

Dale gave me about $200.00 when I left the work. I was so beaten, emotionally, by then that I thought I didn't deserve more.
