The following is an email from Kathy Flippo to Scott Rauscher, overseer of Montana and Wyoming, shared at Kathy's request. NOTE: Horace Burgess is no longer living.

Dear Scott,

You and I don't know each other, so let me introduce myself. I am Kathy Neely Flippo. I was raised in the truth in SC. My parents, grandparents, and great-grandparents on both sides professed.

In 1963, when I was 11 and my sister was 8, we were molested by Horace Burgess, an "esteemed" worker. Apparently he was a prolific pedophile— as they usually are— and he molested many, many little girls. The workers knew...they solved the problem by moving him from one field to the next, leaving a long line of wounded little girls. And he kept abusing children. He kept changing and scarring lives, while he was protected by the overseers. And dozens of little girls were changed as a result. I am 71 years old, and the scars are still with me. And now it's YOU, Scott. And Robert Corfield. You are helping plan his next days, and you need his help with lists. How about lists of his victims? Are you compiling those lists?

Either you are standing for right, or you are supporting evil. From where I sit, you are supporting evil.

I raised my children to believe that a man's integrity matters. From where I sit, you have no integrity.

Kathy Flippo
