- My thoughts to your questions Leanne are pretty much what Tim wrote.

I have had to take a break from meetings since June of this year as being a survivor of abuse the wounds opened again with recurring anxiety and panic attacks.

Right now I am taking a day at a time trying to remember that my salvation is between myself and God.

I do not support the ministry at this time. I am not hopeful for change and disappointed and heartbroken with the coverups.

It is beyond sad.
