Dear friends,

We want to send you a little update on Rob Newman this morning.

Rob has had difficulty getting into healthy sleeping patterns, but this past Tuesday we were able to get him into a hospital setting where he can be more closely monitored and helped to get the complete rest and treatment that he needs. He is getting very good and thorough care and we do feel this is likely the best pathway towards truly better and stable health.

Rob will continue to be out of communication for a while so he can focus on his health, without concerns or worries.

We look forward to the time when Rob is fully recovered.

Thanks for all your help and care,

The CA, AZ, NV staff
